OBJECT DESCRIPTION

Long, rectangular, wooden printing block. The plate has a signature next to a logo of a quill sitting in an ink well next to a stack of books. A row of open books are laying under the signature. Backwards, and having been worn down, the signature is nearly impossible to read. The top band of the plate is separated from the rest completely about 2/3 of the way to the right of the rectangle.

ORIGIN

Donated by John Damianos. The printing block was used in a linotype printing machine. Linotype presses allowed for the casting of entire lines to be printed at a time. Linotype printing was eventually succeeded by lithograph printing and computer typesetting during the 1960's and 1970's. This printing block was used by the Chicago-based, Greek Art Printing Company that was owned and operated by Aristotle Damianos. The Greek Art Printing Company was responsible for the printing of a wide range of materials, including wedding invitations, invoices, flyers, programs, letterhead, etc., for Greek businesses, organizations, institutions, and individuals in the Chicago area, and elsewhere.
