

OBJECT ID	2007.1.6.6
OBJECT NAME	Spoon, Ice Cream
DATE CREATED	1900s
MATERIAL	Pewter
OBJECT ENTITIES	ACORN-COOPER, (created by) SANGALIS, THEADORE (owned by) Sangalis, Diana (is related to) Sangalis, Theadore (is related to)
RELATED ITEMS	Dish, Ice Cream, 2007.1.1 Dish, Ice Cream, 2007.1.2 Dish, Ice Cream, 2007.1.3 Dish, Ice Cream, 2007.1.4 Dish, Ice Cream, 2007.1.5 Spoon, Ice Cream, 2007.1.6.1 Spoon, Ice Cream, 2007.1.6.2 Spoon, Ice Cream, 2007.1.6.3 Spoon, Ice Cream, 2007.1.6.4 Spoon, Ice Cream, 2007.1.6.5 Bowl, Serving, 2007.1.7
ACCESS POINTS	eating utensil ice cream Spoon

OBJECT DESCRIPTION

A large ice cream spoon with a tarnished surface. On the underside of the handle. There is a brand imprint that reads "ACORN-COOPER."

ORIGIN

Ice cream is thought to have been invented in the Persian Empire around 450 BC. snow was stored inside yahkchals and then flavored to be eaten during the hot summer. Since then the recipe evolved through centuries of cultures, It is eaten mainly as a dessert in Greek and American cultures, and serving dishes such as these may have been used for special occasions.

CITATION

Spoon, Ice Cream, 1900s, National Hellenic Museum, <https://collections.nationalhellenicmuseum.org/Detail/objects/>. Accessed 09/12/26.