OBJECT DESCRIPTION

A white colored dress with blue embroidery at the neckline, shoulders, sleeves, and hem of the dress. At the neckline, shoulders, cuffs of the sleeves, and the hem the dress has a band of blue triangular shape embroidery that outlines the box-shape silhouette of the dress. At the shoulders of the dress is another band of blue geometric embroidery that outline the seams of the short sleeves.

ORIGIN

Embroidered dresses and cloths from Greece, dated early 20th century. These clothes belonged to Alexandra Zezulin. They were given to her by her godmother, Ksenia Couris.
