OBJECT DESCRIPTION

An aged newspaper clipping of an article typed in black ink. The newspaper article is written by Marie Economy and is titled, "Greek Embroidery As A Fine Art." The article is sectioned into three topics: "Intricate Stitching, Standard Patterns, and Sparkling with Color." The article discusses the embroidery that is on display at the Museum of Fine Arts of Huston, Texas and is written for the Huston post as mentioned in the Editor note section located underneath the article title. The clipping is cricked and is glued onto what appears to be a rectangular manila folder.
