OBJECT DESCRIPTION

A black and white copy of a photograph of three men. The is one mad sitting in the middle, and the other two men are standing with their hands on the seated man's shoulders. The two standing men are holding canes. The background is a printed tapestry of buildings.

ORIGIN

John Chacona was the first Greek immigrant to establish a business, "The Sugar Bowl" in Ithaca, NY. Anna Georgetson's mother was Nica J. Georgetson. She was the wife of the late John M. Georgetson, formerly of Port Allegany. Mrs. Georgetson was born June 13, 1913, in Goritsa, Sparta, Greece. She was the daughter of the late Gus and Anna Chronis Papageorge. She came to the United States in 1937 after her marriage to John in Greece, and settled in Port Allegany. The extended family ran the Sugar Bowl, later known as Georgetson's Restaurant and wholesale ice cream business.
